

EVENING NEWS REVIEW.

THIRTEENTH YEAR. NO. 128.

EAST LIVERPOOL, OHIO, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 5, 1897.

TWO CENTS

LEGISLATURE CLOSE.

Both Parties Claiming It at Columbus.

BUSHNELL WON BY OVER 28,000.

Vote So Close In Several Counties That a Few Ballots Would Throw the Control of the Legislature Either Way. Both Sides Vigilant.

COLUMBUS, Nov. 5.—The talk about a combine in the legislature against Senator Hanna has subsided, pending the interest in the official counting of the vote in close counties. As the official canvass of the vote in the 88 counties proceeds the Republican plurality on the state ticket increases and on the legislative tickets it appears to be getting toward a very close shave.

While the Republican plurality on the state ticket exceeds 28,000, the vote on the legislative ticket is almost as close as it could be. For this reason there is still unusual anxiety at the respective state headquarters of both parties.

The Republicans still claim that the legislature stands 75 Republicans and 70 Democrats on joint ballot for senator, and that their candidates for representatives in three of the close counties have been elected by the following pluralities: Delaware county, 29; Wood county, 28, and Noble county, 85, a total of 142 in the pluralities of these three counties. A change of 72 votes, properly distributed in these three counties, would therefore have turned the result in the legislature by giving these three representatives to the Democrats. Then the legislature would have stood 72 Republicans and 73 Democrats on joint ballot for senator.

When it is remembered that the total vote of Ohio last year was over one million and is almost one million this year, it is readily seen that 71 is such a small percentage that it cannot be clearly expressed in figures or fractions, or language. And this is what makes the Democratic state committee continue to claim the legislature and the Republican state committee to be so closely on guard in watching the counting in close counties. The official count of Delaware county is in, but with protests and notices of contests from the Democrats and the same is true of Noble county. The official count of Wood county may not be completed till Saturday although they expect to get through today.

In Wood county the Democrats protested against counting the vote of a precinct where the place of voting was outside of the precinct, but within the ward. Had this precinct been thrown out it would have elected the Democratic candidate for representative by a plurality of five instead of the Republican candidate by 28.

The vote of the precinct was counted and the Democratic protest filed. Other technicalities are expected in the progress of the vote in that county today. In Noble county there was a long protest over 27 scratched tickets that were finally thrown out because they were not properly marked. This was a Republican loss. Every point is being contested in the official count of the close counties.

Chairman Nash says that the Republicans have a safe majority of five on joint ballot in the legislature. He admits that the pluralities are small in some counties, but claims they are safe. He has no doubt of the result in any of the counties which he claims, except, possibly, Wood county, and in the event of the loss of that representative, he says the legislature would still stand 74 Republicans to 71 Democrats and have a majority of three on joint ballot for senator. Chairman Nash said the returns from the Thirteenth district showed that the Republicans had a plurality of 432, so that there is no longer any of the state senators in doubt, and the senate will stand 19 Democrats to 17 Republicans.

At Republican state headquarters, Summit county is not headed so doubtful as heretofore and its two representatives are being conceded to the Democrats. This would make the house 58 Republicans and 51 Democrats.

Chairman McConville does not admit that the Republicans have carried the Thirteenth district for their candidate for state senator and he still claims the representatives from Noble, Delaware, Wood, Muskingum and other counties claimed by the Republicans. He also expects the official count to give the Democrats two of the 12 members of the legislature from Cuyahoga county. In all these counties and in others he says there will be contests for the seats in the event of the certificates of election being given to the Republicans.

Chairman McConville charges fraud in the close counties and in some Republican counties. He says nearly all the close counties have gone Republican heretofore and the Republicans still have the machinery in those counties. He says the returns have been held back and it looks suspicious. Other counties have completed their counting while the doubtful counties are still at it. He says the result was known definitely in Cincinnati Wednesday morning yet from Cleveland where he expects the vote to be very close on two or three members of the legislature. Chairman McConville will remain here on duty until the official count of all the counties is completed.

HAS TWO PENSION BOARDS.

Both Hustling For Business Among Old Soldiers at Findlay.

FINDLAY, Nov. 3.—This city now has the novelty of a dual pension board. The old board was Democratic and was protected from removal by the civil service law. Pension Commissioner Evans got around this difficulty by appointing a new board, composed of Republicans, and all soldiers to be examined will be sent before the new board in the future. The old board, however, cannot be interfered with and the members will hustle for business among their soldier friends.

Tuberculosis Among Cattle.

WOOSTER, Nov. 5.—The big herd of blooded cattle owned by the state of Ohio are suffering from tuberculosis, and it is reported that all will have to be killed. The superintendent issued a circular giving an account of the appearance of the disease last spring, and says it has been decided not to kill any of the animals at present, but to isolate suspected cases. The live stock commission permits the feeding of their milk to calves and their slaughter for beef.

Prominent Men Congratulate Hanna.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 5.—Senator Hanna has received a large number of telegrams congratulating him on the result of the election in Ohio. Among those who sent the messages were Governor Bushnell, Senator Foraker, Postmaster General Gary, Secretaries Long and Wilson, Attorney General McKenna, Senators Fairbanks, Mason, Pritchard and Elkins, Chauncey M. Depew, Joseph H. Manly and scores of other men in public life.

Covert Held For Court.

FINDLAY, Nov. 2.—Rev. W. R. Covert of St. Louis, formerly of Pittsburgh, one of the leaders in the Anti-Spiritualistic League of America, and whose recent three days' debate with Moses Hull at Anderson, Ind., attracted national attention, has been tried on a charge of criminal libel, preferred by Mrs. Garrett, a spiritualistic medium. Covert was bound over to await the action of the grand jury and gave bonds.

Hobarts Given a Dinner.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 5.—Vice President and Mrs. Hobart will remain the guests of Senator Hanna until Sunday or Monday. Last evening Senator and Mrs. Hanna gave a dinner party in honor of their guests. About 20 leading society people were at the table.

Opposed to Banks.

CANAL DOVER, Nov. 5.—Samuel Welsh, a laborer at the Crown Fire-clay works, who lives north of here, had his house burned and with it $600 in bills and gold. He had no faith in banks.

Fired the Lockup.

FINDLAY, Nov. 5.—Mary Karh, a weak-minded person, locked up for throwing stones through the windows of saloons, set fire to the police station and was nearly burned to death.

METHODIST BISHOPS MEET.

Report Received at Philadelphia Regarding Church Extension.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 5.—The members of the general committee of church extension of the Methodist Episcopal church are in session in this city. Bishop Bowman, of St. Louis, presides. Many of the bishops are present.

The report of Treasurer James Long, showed receipts in the general fund for the year of $158,862.85 and a balance of $18,267.83, on Oct. 1, 1897. The loan fund receipts including a years balance were $169,403.52. Of this fund a balance of $88,597.92 is on hand. There were increases over the preceding year as follows:

Conference collections, $1,594.73; personal gifts, $2,638.85; interests, $8,486.20; loans returned, $15,467.29.

On Oct. 1, 1897, there were on board 243 applications for aid granted on condition of compliance with conditions. These aggregated $36,025 in donations, and $35,250 in loans. Thirty-six applications for donations and loans, aggregating $11,425, have not yet been considered. The general committee asked the conference for $203,225 for church extension work.

SPAIN GETTING FIRM.

Action of Spanish Officers in Competitor Case Upheld.

MADRID, Nov. 5.—The Spanish cabinet has now decided to reply to the United States minister's acknowledgment of the receipt of the Spanish note in reply to the representations of the United States on the subject of Cuba, declaring in guarded terms that in reference to granting autonomy to Cuba, Spain will do what she deems fit.

It is also understood that the Spanish government is determined in the case of the American schooner Competitor, captured in Cuban waters in April, 1896, to maintain that the Spanish officers acted correctly in making the capture of the Competitor and that the protocol of 1877 solely referred to American citizens residing in Cuba.

Elected a Woman.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Nov. 5.—Miss Arie S. Huntington, Democrat, daughter of the Episcopal bishop of Central New York, has been elected school commissioner for two years, leading the ticket in her class.

DEFENDING HIS SIDE

Father Kress Replies to Professor Reed.

POINTS IN THE ARGUMENT

Are Taken One by One and Demonstrated According to the Catholic Belief—An Article That Will Interest Those Who Follow the Controversy.

EDITOR NEWS REVIEW:—The charges I made in my note of last week against Mr. O. S. Reed are not disposed of in his letter of last Tuesday. I said that he misrepresented Catholic teaching on eight different points. He tries to make little of these by saying they were merely "incidental statements" and "of no import." They seem quite important to us, and we object most decidedly to having them put forward as our teachings. His "fine frenzy" about the honor of motherhood is entirely irrelevant, as the purity of motherhood or sacredness of the marital tie was not questioned. So also is the contention that I dodged behind false issues entirely irrelevant, as I had not the slightest notion of refuting his fallacies, my intention being simply to prove Mr. Reed a false witness when he sets himself up as spokesman for Catholic belief. The question whether or not I am able to meet what Mr. Reed is pleased to call "main issues" has no bearing whatever with the matter in hand; though I ought perhaps assure him that in my estimation it would take neither deep learning nor extensive reading to answer his objections, for they are neither original nor profound. My issue with Mr. Reed is simply this: Has he or has he not misrepresented Catholic teaching. I have not questioned the honor of motherhood; but I have questioned Mr. Reed's veracity. To break the force of my plain charges, he says that I "perverted" his statements, "placing upon them an entirely different construction from the original." This is a serious accusation; let us see how much truth there is in it.

I mentioned as misrepresentations:

1. That priestly celibacy is of divine command. He attempts to prove that we do believe, or ought to do so, by adding another misrepresentation, saying: "It is one of the traditions of the Roman church; but traditions are of equal authority with the scriptures, say Catholics, and being of equal authority, are as binding as any word of scripture, therefore equally divine." What a fine piece of juggling this is. Catholics hold that the oral teachings of the apostles are of equal value with their writings, and call the former tradition and the latter scripture. That they hold any other traditions outside of this as equal to the scriptures is absurd and false. They do not hold that the tradition derived from the apostles commands celibacy. Therefore the conclusion that Catholics hold priestly celibacy to be of divine command, either directly or by implication, is false. What amazing ignorance to confound the discipline of the church with divine tradition. One is not surprised after that to have the old fake about Popess Joan reshaped, that Leibnitz and Blondel, protestants, exploded generations ago, and whom even the American encyclopedia calls a "fictitious personage."

2. That someone other than God forgives sins. Mr. Reed cites part of the words that the priest uses in giving absolution; the full form is: "May the Lord Jesus Christ absolve thee, and I, by His authority, absolve thee" and etc. It is an official, not a personal power. When Governor Bushnell pardons a criminal, it is the state that pardons through him. The power of forgiveness is not the priest's, but Christ's, and unless his words be ratified by God they avail nothing. He acts as Christ's minister, and is empowered to do so by Christ's own words, Mth. 16, 19; Mth. 18, 18; John, 20, 21-23.

3. That mortal sins are unforgivable. No one could say this and remain a Catholic. Mr. Reed says: "They (our Catholic friends) also have mortal and venial (venial, it should be) sins, sins forgivable and sins unforgivable." Then to show that he is speaking of sins in this life he cites the example of St. Paul, proving from his forgiveness that mortal sins are really forgivable here below. What Catholic ever said they were not?

4. That there are three positions in the future, after the final settlement. Mr. Reed says: "On the authority of Holy Writ, I declare that there shall be but two classes in the final settlement, the redeemed and the accursed; the one to enter into the eternal joy and bliss of heaven, the other to be consigned to an everlasting hell; no intermediate position; no purgatory; no place where, through punishment and purging, the sinner can escape hell and enter heaven." For once every Catholic will agree with Mr. Reed; after the final settlement—the last judgment—there will exist only heaven and hell. It is false to say we believe different.

5. That through punishment the sinner can escape hell and enter heaven. This is stated in the above quotation as being false. We say it is decidedly false, and that it is just as decidedly wrong to charge us with holding it.

6. That heaven is attained through punishment and not through love. This statement had to be made to give Mr. Reed a foundation for his "philosophical" argument. It is not Catholic teaching, however, and so the "philosophical" argument that is based on it really proves nothing. We held that no one can be saved except he have love, and that the souls that go to purgatory have died in the love and friendship of God. There are only two states, even prior to the final settlement, according to Catholic teaching, the saved and the damned.

7. That the sufferings of purgatory are meritorious or redemptive. The word "redemption" has a peculiar significance in Christian theology: it refers to the salvation wrought by Christ. It is evidently improper to use it in connection with the sufferings of purgatory, except you no longer attach that peculiar meaning to it. The souls that enter purgatory are saved, and saved through the merits of Christ. This brings us to the last misrepresentation.

8. That Catholics reject Christ's atonement. Mr. Reed does not state this in so many words, but his entire argument against purgatory implies that we expect to get to heaven irrespective of Christ's merits. This is repeated in last Sunday's sermon. The Catholic believes that divine grace is necessary for salvation, and that divine grace can only come through Christ.

I have gone into these details, Mr. Editor, to show that I have not perverted Mr. Reed's statements. He has misrepresented the faith of Catholics. Will he be manly enough to make the retraction that honor and justice demand? Do the members of the Christian church approve of the slander of their Catholic fellow citizens by their minister, or that their pulpit be used for the furtherance of bigotry and intolerance? Have not we Catholics the right to demand that our religion be not maligned, and that our religious convictions be respected to that extent, at any rate that they be not misrepresented? I speak frankly and plainly, for I am speaking to men who believe with me that God's command is still in force: "Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor."

I crave your pardon, Mr. Editor, for having trespassed so far upon your valuable space; but I trust it is the last communication that I will have to trouble you with. Sincerely yours, W. S. KRESS.

FEVER SITUATION BAD.

The Cold Wave Seems to Have Not Been of Benefit.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 5.—The yellow fever situation has not improved and the unfavorable turn of affairs following in the wake of the cold wave and the light frost is very disappointing to Dr. Olliphant, president of the board of health. He reiterates, however, that the effects of the cold snap will become apparent in a few days. The record shows that the number of fatalities is greater than that of the day before, and there is no let up in the new cases. Deat s. 7; new cases, 40.

Mobile—Eleven new cases and one death. Frost heavier, but still light.

Edwards, Miss—Two cases; Nitta Yuma, one case.

Elkoxi—Six new cases.

Scranton—Two new cases.

Memphis—Three new cases and one death.

Execution Funds Charged.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—The executive committee of the Citizen's Union proposes to institute a series of prosecutions against violators of the election laws. Chairman Reynolds says that somebody will go to prison before the investigations are completed.

Ex-Turkish Consul Found Guilty.

BOSTON, Nov. 5.—The superior court jury which has been trying the case against Joseph A. Iasigi ex-Turkish consul, charged with embezzling $140,000 from French estates, reported a verdict of guilty.

FOR AN END TO WAR.

Advocates of Arbitration Are Again Stirring.

PAUNCEFOTE READY TO NEGOTIATE

Cremer Will Sail For This Country Tomorrow, With a Petition to the Senate Representing 2,750,000 Workingmen. An English Minister Already Here.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—Sir Julian Pauncfote, the British ambassador, who is just back from London, probably will confer with Secretary Sherman at an early day concerning the reopening of negotiations for an Anglo-American treaty of arbitration. There is said to be no disposition on either hand to press the subject unduly, but rather to allow it to develop along natural lines and responsive to public sentiment. Mr. Sherman made known to the British authorities some months ago that the president would view with favor a reopening of the negotiations, and was hopeful that a peace treaty ultimately would be secured. The British officials were much gratified at this suggestion, but no negotiations were entered upon.

Since then Sir Julian has visited London and has had an opportunity to learn the views of the foreign office, as well as the state of British feeling on the subject. All the tendencies on the other side are favorable to arbitration, although there is a general indisposition to take up the treaty question as long as there is a chance that it would meet the same fate as the Olney-Pauncfote treaty. As a result of that treaty, an arbitration league has been formed throughout England, its aim being to bring about a peace compact between that country and this.

WORKINGMEN FAVOR ARBITRATION.

Cremer Coming to the United States Bearing a Big Petition.

LONDON, Nov. 5.—William Cremer, the former member of parliament for the Haggerston division of Shoreditch, editor of The Arbitrator, first secretary of the International Workingmen's association and secretary of the International Arbitration League, sails for New York from Southampton tomorrow on board the American line steamer St. Paul.

Mr. Cremer said that he was the bearer of, and would present to every senator, an address to the United States senate signed by over 7,000 workingmen, each of them being an officer of a trades union, and representing altogether 2,650,000 British workingmen, who favor an arbitration treaty.

TO ADVOCATE ARBITRATION.

An English Minister on a Mission to This Country.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Rev. Dr. Chas. Berry, pastor of the Queens Street church, Wolverhampton, London, and chairman of the Congregational Union of England, has arrived in New York from England. Dr. Berry will endeavor to influence the senate to ratify the Anglo-American arbitration treaty.

According to a report he has been invited to act as senate chaplain for a few days during the next session. He will conduct a series of mass meetings throughout the country in the interest of the arbitration movement.

CLEVELAND'S WAR MESSAGE.

It Has Caused England to Secure New Cable Lines to West Indies.

LONDON, Nov. 5.—The issue of shares and debentures by the Direct West Indies Cable company limited marks the beginning of the end of England's dependence on the United States for cable connection with the West Indies.

But for President Cleveland's Venezuelan war message England would probably have been quite content to depend upon the United States lines via Florida and Cuba, but directly the officials here realized the possibility of a war with the United States and the consequent isolation of the West Indian colonies they set about the negotiations which resulted in the imperial subsidy of $40,000 yearly for 20 years to the British Canadian capitalists who own the Halifax-Bermuda cable for its extension from Bermuda to Jamaica, and ultimately to other leading West Indian islands and South America. The cable will be completed by the first week of February next.

Prevent Disturbing Money Market.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—Assistant Secretary Vanderlip has returned from a brief visit to New York where he arranged for the transfer by the reorganization committee of the government's share of the purchase price of the Union Pacific railroad. Several of the prominent New York city banks have made applications for the deposit with them of such amount of the purchase money as the treasury department may deem necessary in order that there may be no disturbance of the money market.

The Weather.

Threatening, probably light showers; cooler tonight; increasing southerly winds, brisk to high on the lakes.

Mr. Reed cites part of the words that the priest uses in giving absolution; the full form is: "May the Lord Jesus Christ absolve thee, and I, by His authority, absolve thee" and etc. It is an official, not a personal power. When Governor Bushnell pardons a criminal, it is the state that pardons through him. The power of forgiveness is not the priest's, but Christ's, and unless his words be ratified by God they avail nothing. He acts as Christ's minister, and is empowered to do so by Christ's own words, Mth. 16, 19; Mth. 18, 18; John, 20, 21-23.

3. That mortal sins are unforgivable. No one could say this and remain a Catholic. Mr. Reed says: "They (our Catholic friends) also have mortal and venial (venial, it should be) sins, sins forgivable and sins unforgivable." Then to show that he is speaking of sins in this life he cites the example of St. Paul, proving from his forgiveness that mortal sins are really forgivable here below. What Catholic ever said they were not?

4. That there are three positions in the future, after the final settlement. Mr. Reed says: "On the authority of Holy Writ, I declare that there shall be but two classes in the final settlement, the redeemed and the accursed; the one to enter into the eternal joy and bliss of heaven, the other to be consigned to an everlasting hell; no intermediate position; no purgatory; no place where, through punishment and purging, the sinner can escape hell and enter heaven." For once every Catholic will agree with Mr. Reed; after the final settlement—the last judgment—there will exist only heaven and hell. It is false to say we believe different.

5. That through punishment the sinner can escape hell and enter heaven. This is stated in the above quotation as being false. We say it is decidedly false, and that it is just as decidedly wrong to charge us with holding it.

6. That heaven is attained through punishment and not through love. This statement had to be made to give Mr. Reed a foundation for his "philosophical" argument. It is not Catholic teaching, however, and so the "philosophical" argument that is based on it really proves nothing. We held that no one can be saved except he have love, and that the souls that go to purgatory have died in the love and friendship of God. There are only two states, even prior to the final settlement, according to Catholic teaching, the saved and the damned.

7. That the sufferings of purgatory are meritorious or redemptive. The word "redemption" has a peculiar significance in Christian theology; it refers to the salvation wrought by Christ. It is evidently improper to use it in connection with the sufferings of purgatory, except you no longer attach that peculiar meaning to it. The souls that enter purgatory are saved, and saved through the merits of Christ. This brings us to the last misrepresentation.

8. That Catholics reject Christ's atonement. Mr. Reed does not state this in so many words, but his entire argument against purgatory implies that we expect to get to heaven irrespective of Christ's merits. This is repeated in last Sunday's sermon. The Catholic believes that divine grace is necessary for salvation, and that divine grace can only come through Christ.

I have gone into these details, Mr. Editor, to show that I have not perverted Mr. Reed's statements. He has misrepresented the faith of Catholics. Will he be manly enough to make the retraction that honor and justice demand? Do the members of the Christian church approve of the slander of their Catholic fellow citizens by their minister, or that their pulpit be used for the furtherance of bigotry and intolerance? Have not we Catholics the right to demand that our religion be not maligned, and that our religious convictions be respected to that extent, at any rate that they be not misrepresented? I speak frankly and plainly, for I am speaking to men who believe with me that God's command is still in force: "Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor."

I crave your pardon, Mr. Editor, for having trespassed so far upon your valuable space; but I trust it is the last communication that I will have to trouble you with. Sincerely yours, W. S. KRESS.

The Cold Wave Seems to Have Not Been of Benefit.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 5.—The yellow fever situation on has not improved and the unfavorable turn of affairs following in the wake of the cold wave and the light frost is very disappointing to Dr. Olliphant, president of the board of health. He reiterates, however, that the effects of the cold snap will become apparent in a few days. The record shows that the number of fatalities is greater than that of the day before, and there is no let up in the new cases. Deat s. 7; new cases, 40.

Mobile—Eleven new cases and one death. Frost heavier, but still light. Edwards, Miss—Two cases; Nitta Yuma, one case.

Elizixt—Six new cases. Scranton—Two new cases. Memphis—Three new cases and one death.

Election Frauds Charged.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—The executive committee of the Citizen's Union proposes to institute a series of prosecutions against violators of the election laws. Chairman Reynolds says that somebody will go to prison before the investigations are completed.

Ex-Turkish Consul Found Guilty.

BOSTON, Nov. 5.—The superior court jury which has been trying the case against Joseph A. Iasigi ex-Turkish consul, charged with embezzling $140,000 from French estates, reported a verdict of guilty.

FOR AN END TO WAR.

Advocates of Arbitration Are Again Stirring.

PAUNCEFOTE READY TO NEGOTIATE

Cremer Will Sail For This Country Tomorrow, With a Petition to the Senate Representing 2,750,000 Workingmen. An English Minister Already Here.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—Sir Julian Pauncfote, the British ambassador, who is just back from London, probably will confer with Secretary Sherman at an early day concerning the reopening of negotiations for an Anglo-American treaty of arbitration. There is said to be no disposition on either hand to press the subject unduly, but rather to allow it to develop along natural lines and responsive to public sentiment. Mr. Sherman made known to the British authorities some months ago that the president would view with favor a reopening of the negotiations, and was hopeful that a peace treaty ultimately would be secured. The British officials were much gratified at this suggestion, but no negotiations were entered upon.

Since then Sir Julian has visited London and has had an opportunity to learn the views of the foreign office, as well as the state of British feeling on the subject. All the tendencies on the other side are favorable to arbitration, although there is a general indisposition to take up the treaty question as long as there is a chance that it would meet the same fate as the Olney-Pauncfote treaty. As a result of that treaty, an arbitration league has been formed throughout England, its aim being to bring about a peace compact between that country and this.

WORKINGMEN FAVOR ARBITRATION.

Cremer Coming to the United States Bearing a Big Petition.

LONDON, Nov. 5.—William Cremer, the former member of parliament for the Haggerston division of Shoreditch, editor of The Arbitrator, first secretary of the International Workingmen's association and secretary of the International Arbitration League, sails for New York from Southampton tomorrow on board the American line steamer St. Paul.

Mr. Cremer said that he was the bearer of, and would present to every senator, an address to the United States senate signed by over 7,000 workingmen, each of them being an officer of a trades union, and representing altogether 2,650,000 British workingmen, who favor an arbitration treaty.

TO ADVOCATE ARBITRATION.

An English Minister on a Mission to This Country.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Rev. Dr. Chas. Berry, pastor of the Queens Street church, Wolverhampton, London, and chairman of the Congregational Union of England, has arrived in New York from England. Dr. Berry will endeavor to influence the senate to ratify the Anglo-American arbitration treaty.

According to a report he has been invited to act as senate chaplain for a few days during the next session. He will conduct a series of mass meetings throughout the country in the interest of the arbitration movement.

CLEVELAND'S WAR MESSAGE.

It Has Caused England to Secure New Cable Lines to West Indies.

LONDON, Nov. 5.—The issue of shares and debentures by the Direct West Indies Cable company limited marks the beginning of the end of England's dependence on the United States for cable connection with the West Indies.

But for President Cleveland's Venezuelan war message England would probably have been quite content to depend upon the United States lines via Florida and Cuba, but directly the officials here realized the possibility of a war with the United States and the consequent isolation of the West Indian colonies they set about the negotiations which resulted in the imperial subsidy of $40,000 yearly for 20 years to the British Canadian capitalists who own the Halifax-Bermuda cable for its extension from Bermuda to Jamaica, and ultimately to other leading West Indian islands and South America. The cable will be completed by the first week of February next.

Prevent Disturbing Money Market.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—Assistant Secretary Vanderlip has returned from a brief visit to New York where he arranged for the transfer by the reorganization committee of the government's share of the purchase price of the Union Pacific railroad. Several of the prominent New York city banks have made applications for the deposit with them of such amount of the purchase money as the treasury department may deem necessary in order that there may be no disturbance of the money market.

The Weather.

Threatening, probably light showers, cooler tonight; increasing southerly winds, brisk to high on the lakes.

WILL USE THE COURTS.

Democrats Will Thus Prevent the Issuing of Certificates to Republicans in Certain Ohio Counties — Republicans Also Preparing Cases of Contest.

COLUMBUS, Nov. 5.—The courts will be resorted to for the purpose of preventing boards of election from issuing certificates to the Republican candidates in certain counties.

The cases will be brought in the lower courts and thence to the supreme court as soon as possible. The Republican state committee also has lawyers preparing cases of contest. The Republicans get three representatives on the face of the returns from Delaware, Noble and Wood counties, whose pluralities aggregate only 142, and a change of 72 votes would have given the Democrats control of the legislature.

The Republicans claim that the Democrats also elected members of the legislature on close margins, that there were ten counties in the state that gave less than 100 plurality each for their candidates for the legislature and that the Democrats secured as many members on these small pluralities as the Republicans. Both sides are preparing for contests first in the courts and afterward in the legislature. As each branch of the legislature is the tribunal of last resort in judging of the qualifications of its own members, the Republicans have an advantage in their control of the house over the Democrats, who control the senate. There are 36 senators with only two or three contests possible in that body.

In the house there are 109 members with a dozen or more seats that can be contested, and the Republicans claim a majority of seven in that body, so that more Democrats could be unseated in the house than Republicans in the senate. While both committees are keeping secret any arrangements for legal proceedings, yet it is stated that the Democratic state committee will seek to enjoin enough certificates of election from Republican representatives to prevent the Republicans from organizing the house and appointing the committee that will consider contests. Developments are expected today in the policies of both parties, so far as appealing to the courts is concerned.

Republicans Made Some Gains.

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 5.—Returns by counties have served to slightly reduce previous estimates of fusion pluralities. They also show that the Republicans made gains in county officers.

NEW TEMPLE TRUSTEES.

Some Declined to Serve When Appointed by the W. T. C. U.

BUFFALO, Nov. 5.—At a meeting of the W. T. C. U. trustees of the Chicago temple. Seven of the trustees, Miss Frances E. Willard, Mrs. L. M. N. Stevens, Maine; Mrs. Hannah J. Bailey, Maine; Mrs. Helen M. Barker, Illinois; Mrs. A. S. Benjamin, Michigan; Mrs. Clara C. Hoffman, Missouri, and Mrs. Anna M. Hammer, Pennsylvania, handed in their resignations and they were accepted. To fill the vacancies these were appointed:

Mrs. Harry C. Upham, Wisconsin; Mrs. Lucy B. Tynge, Peoria, Ill.; Mrs. Z. A. Hazans, Elmhurst, Ill.; Mrs. Rebecca B. Chambers, West Grove, Pa., and Mrs. Margaret S. Hillies, Delaware.

When notified of their appointment, Mrs. Hillies and Mrs. Chambers declined to serve. The others have not yet been consulted.

Los Angeles, Portland, Oregon, and Omaha are spoken of, with Portland most favored, for the next meeting place.

Women's Board of Missions.

NEW LONDON, Conn., Nov. 5.—At the closing session of the Women's Board of Missions Mrs. Albert Bowker was elected honorary president and Mrs. Judson Smith of Boston president. Mrs. J. Copp of Easton, Pa., was one of the vice presidents chosen.

EARTHQUAKE CRACKED BUILDINGS.

Dishes Shaken to the Floor and Clocks Stopped in the West.

POCATALLA, Ida., Nov. 5.—A severe shock of earthquake was felt the entire distance from Silver Bow to Monida, Mon., and later a second shock was perceptible, but not so severe. At Divide, Red Rock, Lima and Monida windows rattled, dishes fell to the floor, flower pots were thrown from their stands, lamp chimneys and other glass were suffered destruction, clocks stopped and buildings were made to sway and crack. At Dillon especially was the first shock severe. The courthouse walls were cracked and the plaster fell from the ceiling.

AMERICAN'S MURDERER CAUGHT.

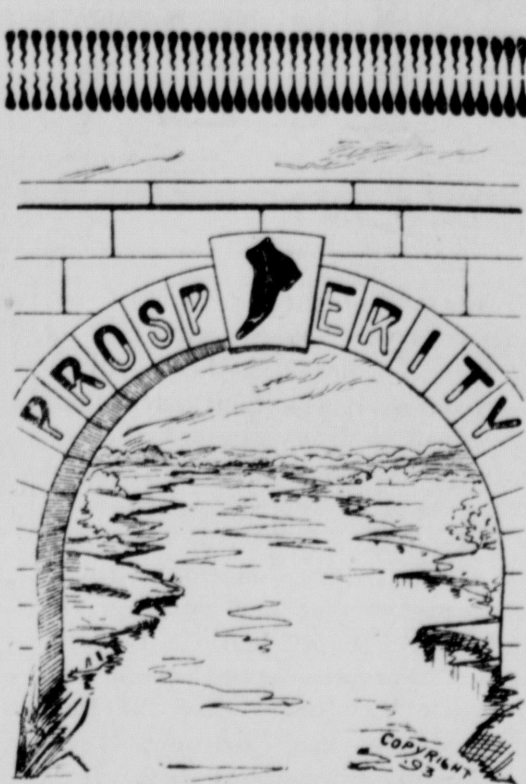

The Nicaraguan Government Has Been Pursuing Him For Three Years.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—The United States consul at San Juan del Norte, Nicaragua, has informed the department of state that Roberto Arguello who killed an American citizen named William Wilson at Rama in 1894, has been arrested and sent to the interior as a prisoner.

Arguello was a sub-governor at the time of the killing. His punishment was demanded by our government and the Nicaraguan government has been in pursuit of the murderer for three years.

MR. DAWSON IS PRESIDENT

He Was Also Appointed as Press Committee and Has Very Little to Give Out—No Honest Man Need Fear the Organization. It Is Announced.

The grocers, butchers and produce dealers of the city organized last night, and in a few weeks will have all the affairs of the association in good order.

The meeting was attended by no less than 50 business men, and no others were admitted. The proceedings were not given out for publication, but the fact that J. H. Dawson was elected president of the association was made known. Mr. Dawson was also made a press committee, but he had nothing to say this morning beyond the statement that no honest man need fear the organization. Nothing was said about the establishing of a market house.

Since the association includes almost all the grocers and butchers in town it is accepted as truth that the man who does not in future pay his grocery bill will have a hard time of it.

He Has Seen a Goodly Part of the World.

Several travelers were awaiting the 8:46 train, this morning, when one began to talk of the distance his trunks had traveled. Another said his had gone over 4,000 miles since he had it, and others showed that their trunks had gone 6,000.

This was considered a good distance by all the boys, but a newcomer said his trunks had gone over 150,000 miles. He explained that he had been around the world, and over the United States more times than he had fingers and toes. The foreign and domestic pasters on his grips verified his statements. The trunks were almost covered with stamps of steamship and railroad companies.

WELLSVILLE.

WHO FIRED THE SHOTS?

There Was Excitement In the West End.

NO ONE WILL DISCUSS IT

Good Work of the Railroad Detectives. No Work For the Mayor—A Few Liverpool Disorderlies—Trainmen are Satisfied—All the News.

There was a mysterious happening in the West End last night, and no one has yet come forward to explain it. At a late hour several persons heard a number of shots fired at a point below Fourteenth street. The shots were evidently from a revolver, and came in rapid succession. No cause could be assigned for the shooting by people who investigated for they were unable to find anyone who knew anything of it. It is not the first occurrence of that kind within the past few weeks.

Some Good Work.

The railroad detectives are being congratulated for the part they have taken in ridding the road of trespassers, that is the people who ride in box cars and on the bumpers. A year or more ago the detectives had their time well occupied looking after these passengers, and not a day passed when police court did not have one or more culprits of this class. Now an occasional traveler is captured, but it is noticed that the professionals avoid the road as they would a pestilence, and the men caught are not of the wicked and depraved. As a rule they are poor fellows in search of work, or some one who would rather risk arrest than pay the required fare.

Election Echoes.

Railroad men, as a rule, are pleased with the result of the election, and a little knot of enthusiasts who were gathered at the passenger station last night decided that Governor Bushnell and Senator Hanna should publicly thank the trainmen of Ohio for the part they took in bringing about the result.

Attorney Jeff Forner is being congratulated by his Democratic friends for the manner in which he handled the senatorial campaign. The mere fact that Geo. B. Aten ran ahead of his ticket is taken as evidence that the youngster knows a thing or two of politics.

No Work For the Mayor.

Mayor Jones has little work to do now that the excitement of election has passed, and the people have settled down to the transaction of everyday business. Not a case claimed his attention this morning.

James Griffin settled what business he had with the city by paying the two fines imposed upon him by the mayor, and was released.

In the Trust.

The attempt to form a sewer pipe trust continues to excite interest in this place, and it is generally understood that the Lyth and Walker plants will be included when the right time arrives. The need of some combination to keep up prices is apparent, and it is thought that petty disputes will be put aside long enough to bring about the desired result.

Liverpool Boys.

Complaint is made that Liverpool boys of tender years come to Wellsville often and go home in an intoxicated condition. The matter has excited more or less comment for some time, but in recent weeks the practice seems to be growing. It is probable that the next grand jury will have something to say about it.

THOSE VALUABLE LOTS

Of the East End Land Improvement company can be secured at Attorney McGarry's office, Fifth street, at auction prices. See the plat on exhibition. Every lot marked off with blue pencil is a bonafide sale. The first payment is but light, with a payment each month thereafter, such a payment as any mechanic can reach easily. These lots will be very valuable in a short time. Purchase while you can.

WHO FIRED THE SHOTS?

There Was Excitement In the West End.

NO ONE WILL DISCUSS IT

Good Work of the Railroad Detectives.
No Work For the Mayor—A Few Liverpool Disorderlies—Trainmen are Satisfied—All the News.

There was a mysterious happening in the West End last night, and no one has yet come forward to explain it. At a late hour several persons heard a number of shots fired at a point below Fourteenth street. The shots were evidently from a revolver, and came in rapid succession. No cause could be assigned for the shooting by people who investigated for they were unable to find anyone who knew anything of it. It is not the first occurrence of that kind within the past few weeks.

Some Good Work.

The railroad detectives are being congratulated for the part they have taken in ridding the road of trespassers, that is the people who ride in box cars and on the bumpers. A year or more ago the detectives had their time well occupied looking after these passengers, and not a day passed when police court did not have one or more culprits of this class. Now an occasional traveler is captured, but it is noticed that the professionals avoid the road as they would a pestilence, and the men caught are not of the wicked and depraved. As a rule they are poor fellows in search of work, or some one who would rather risk arrest than pay the required fare.

Election Echoes.

Railroad men, as a rule, are pleased with the result of the election, and a little knot of enthusiasts who were gathered at the passenger station last night decided that Governor Bushnell and Senator Hanna should publicly thank the trainmen of Ohio for the part they took in bringing about the result.

Attorney Jeff Forner is being congratulated by his Democratic friends for the manner in which he handled the senatorial campaign. The mere fact that Geo. B. Aten ran ahead of his ticket is taken as evidence that the youngster knows a thing or two of politics.

No Work For the Mayor.

Mayor Jones has little work to do now that the excitement of election has passed, and the people have settled down to the transaction of everyday business. Not a case claimed his attention this morning.

James Griffin settled what business he had with the city by paying the two fines imposed upon him by the mayor, and was released.

In the Trust.

The attempt to form a sewer pipe trust continues to excite interest in this place, and it is generally understood that the Lyth and Walker plants will be included when the right time arrives. The need of some combination to keep up prices is apparent, and it is thought that petty disputes will be put aside long enough to bring about the desired result.

Liverpool Boys.

Complaint is made that Liverpool boys of tender years come to Wellsville often and go home in an intoxicated condition. The matter has excited more or less comment for some time, but in recent weeks the practice seems to be growing. It is probable that the next grand jury will have something to say about it.

THOSE VALUABLE LOTS

Of the East End Land Improvement company can be secured at Attorney McGarry's office, Fifth street, at auction prices. See the plat on exhibition. Every lot marked off with blue pencil is a bonafide sale. The first payment is but light, with a payment each month thereafter, such a payment as any mechanic can reach easily. These lots will be very valuable in a short time. Purchase while you can.

Ask Them.

Ticket agents of the Pennsylvania lines will furnish information regarding homeseekers' excursions to various points in the northwest, west, southwest and south. It will pay to investigate if you contemplate a trip. Apply to nearest Pennsylvania line ticket agent, or address J. K. Dillon, district passenger agent, Pittsburg, Pa.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., FRIDAY, NOV. 5.

THE Lisbon Patriot should move in.
It believes the Democratic defeat to be a calamity.

McLEAN's last gasp in the campaign was that story which said Hon. M. A.
Hanna will not be returned to the senate.

WHEN an individual, in political or business life, becomes afflicted with the swelled head, there is but one genuine cure or remedy—reduce the head; decapitate.

WITH calamity forever on his lips,
Mr. Bryan cannot hope to be popular.
The people do not like that sort of thing. They can endure a plain statement of fact when occasion requires it,
but to hear the continued croaking of a man whose croaking has made him famous becomes tiresome.

Now let McLean step from the sight of Ohio's voters. He does not belong here, his home is in Washington, and he will doubtless remain there. He cannot hope to represent this state in the senate,
nor can he imagine that the methods used in the campaign will give him an enviable place in the public heart.

TWO BOSSES GONE.

The average American does not relish
a political boss. It is against the spirit of his government. He endures it for a time, and only when forbearance has ceased to be a virtue does he cut loose
from his party long enough to deprive it temporarily of power and rebuke its self appointed leaders.

Mr. Platt was a political boss. No
New York Republican could hope to hold office unless he first consulted the wishes of Mr. Platt. If he happened to be of the material which that gentleman believed he could control, moulding him
to do his will at all times, he secured
Mr. Platt's support. That meant victory
if the Republican party happened to be victorious. Platt has been doing this sort of thing for years, and thousands of politicians have grown to look upon him as their leader. His rule has been that of a despot, and to him was directly due
the loss of New York to the Republicans last Tuesday. The independent ticket was supported by Republicans because they would not vote with Tammany and they were determined to show Platt that no longer would they bow the knee to his corrupt administration. Had there been no boss to rebuke, Republicans
would control not only New York city,
but the state as well.

George B. Cox was another boss to go down last Tuesday, and as in the case of Mr. Platt, the Republican ticket was sacrificed to secure his defeat. Cox was a boss who carried things with a high hand, and under his rule Cincinnati was the prey for the most corrupt politicians
to be found in any part of the state.
They made life so much of a burden for
the taxpayers that the people rebelled.
They could do nothing with the city government and Hamilton county was in control of the tricksters. At length
an independent movement was born,
and as it grew and waxed strong Boss Cox knew his fate was sealed. Important as were the issues at stake the people preferred to sacrifice the Republican party, and they voted against Cox. Now he says he is out of politics. Let us hope he is telling the truth.

And there are men in other parts of Ohio who should heed the warning. If they love the Republican party as they claim they love it, they will put aside their propensities for bossism, for if they do not they will compel the people to defeat the party in order to crush their power.

EVENING NEWS REVIEW.

THIRTEENTH YEAR. NO. 128.

EAST LIVERPOOL, OHIO, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 5, 1897.

TWO CENTS

HERE IS THE CHANCE.

SENATOR STEWART SAYS, "GO TO SLEEP AND GET RICH."

Twenty-five Cent Silver and Dollar Wheat. Senator John P. Jones Welcomes More Gold—Says Silver Will Continue to Fall, but Times Will Be Better.

Senator Stewart of Nevada is one of the latest converts to commercial optimism. He is a "bull" on everything except silver. He is engaged in a vigorous campaign in Wall street and said to the reporter of a New York paper the other day that he had heard so much about better times that he has determined to "gather in a part of the prosperity which is not only rampant in the street, but throughout the land."

When asked what had brought about a change in his views, he said:

"There is no room for pessimism in this country. No one can be a 'bear' in the face of the wheat famine in Argentina, Russia, Hungary and India. In view of this condition abroad, I should not be surprised to see silver sell as low as 25 cents and wheat as high as $1. There is nothing in talking silver at the present time, and my advice to my friends in the west is to fall into line with the forces of prosperity and progress and receive their due share of the reward."

"The time has passed for the old issues. We must turn to face new issues and new conditions."

"I frequently hear it said that this security market is a duplicate of the market in 1879. It is not. It is more of a 'bull' market. All a man has to do is to get into it—go to sleep and get rich. The wheat situation in the west will make every railway not only a dividend earner, but a dividend payer. Railroads that have been moribund for years are now taxed to their fullest capacity and are still unable to accommodate the traffic. I am told that there is imminent danger of a car famine on many of the most important lines traversing this country."

"Are the people in the west alive to this new situation?"

"The people in the west," he replied, "are wide awake. They know a good thing when they see it. Most of them are hanging on to their cereals with a confidence born of hope and an actual knowledge of what is going on around them. With their immense crops they will be able not only to liquidate their indebtedness to the money sharks of the east, but will inaugurate a buying movement that will surprise the people in this part of the country. I think that by the late fall the truth of what I said and reiterated during the campaign will be generally recognized, and that is that there can be no general prosperity in this country that is not born and sustained in the west."

Senator John P. Jones of Nevada, who is in New York, said that the continued fall in the price of silver ought not to surprise any one.

"Silver is falling in commercial price," he said, "because of the falling off of the demand for it as money. Japan has gone on a gold basis and so lessened the demand for silver. Besides this, there has been, because of universal hard times, a great falling off in purchases in the east. The oriental countries use silver money, and our purchases are paid for in that metal. This demand has been cut off by reason of the hard times."

"Would not the increase in gold production in Canada and Alaska naturally tend to raise the price of silver?"

"I think not. Even if it did the advance would be inappreciable, while the decrease due to the two causes I have mentioned would more than counterbalance any slight possible advance and continue to force silver lower and lower. However, there will be no general advance in prices. In 1849, when the mines of California and Australia trebled the world's supply of gold, the advance in general prices was only 15 per cent in 15 years. That advance, small and gradual as it was, was a universal benefaction. The only thing that can advance the price of a money metal is the demand for the metal for its use as money. If gold were not used as money, the present stock would be sufficient for all the uses in the arts and in commerce for 50 years."

"You will infer," said Mr. Jones, "that I am not opposed to prosperity through an increase in gold. The Republicans are very lucky, and I congratulate them on the fact that this great discovery falls within their administration. I believe a great deal of gold will be found in Alaska, and it is certain to restore prosperity, for which the Republicans will claim and receive the credit. I shall welcome its return, whether through gold or silver. An abundance of money means prosperity, and I want to see good times in this country come as a result of good times elsewhere."

"Another result that will flow from an abundance of money, be it silver or gold, will be the abeyance of this hatred

of the trusts. I cherish no enmity toward the combinations of capital. If two or three men want to combine for the purpose of bettering their business by lessening production, they have a right to do so. But the people hate trusts, and only prosperity will drive monopolies out of their minds."

"I have been taunted with being opposed to an 'honest' dollar. I believe in an honest dollar as strongly as any man, but I consider that only one dollar can be honest, and that is a dollar which demands no more and no less sacrifice to secure it at the maturity of a debt than it demanded when the debt was contracted. I want as good money as anybody."

Senator Jones said that the miners in Nevada are abandoning their silver mines and are prospecting for gold. Many of them, he said, are meeting with success, and it is probable that a good quantity of gold will soon be produced in that state.

Mental Maladies.

Within the memory of living men there were physicians who held the theory that mental disorders were in the majority of cases nothing more or less than viciousness, ugliness, or, to use their favorite expression, "pure devilishness." The logical sequence of this line of reasoning was that the infirmity was something to be eradicated by chastisement given in allopathic doses. More than one sufferer has been mercilessly whipped and many another has been chained and starved with the view to exorcise the evil spirit that was popularly supposed to be the cause of all the trouble. The starvation part of all the treatment might have given favorable results, as extreme reduction of the physical system often removes the clouds from the mental, but cruelty or brutality is the worst possible remedy for afflictions of this nature, simply aggravating and increasing them without the faintest hope of benefit. Disturbances of the psychic half of the human economy are even more numerous and important than those affecting the physical and material.

One of the misfortunes of patients who suffer from mental disorders is the lack of appreciation of the grave nature of their disease. Even eminent medical men, especially those who are themselves in the enjoyment of robust health, find it difficult to appreciate the more delicate phases of nervous distress. Merely a nervous attack means a great deal more than the average person is capable of understanding. The horrors that cluster around even the milder forms of insanity are such that the merest shadow of mental disturbance demands the most thorough and intelligent treatment. Ministering to a mind diseased is a phase of the physician's work that is too little understood and receives much less attention than its importance warrants.—New York Ledger.

Toning Solutions.

The formulas for toning solutions are almost without number, but the toning process which gives the best results for aristo papers—the papers most commonly used—is the one in which the toning and fixing are done separately. A favorite bath is made as follows: Make a stock solution of 15 grains of chloride gold and sodium (price, 40 cents) and 7½ ounces water and a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda. A saturated solution is a liquid which contains a little more of the substance placed in it than it can dissolve and is shown by a deposit at the bottom of the bottle or vessel in which it is placed. Mark the bottle containing the gold "Gold Solution," and the bottle containing the soda "Bicarbonate of Soda Solution." To make the toning bath take one-half ounce of the gold solution and add 3½ ounces of water. Dip a piece of blue litmus paper into the solution, and if it does not turn the paper red add a little more of the gold. Then put in enough of the bicarbonate of soda solution to turn the litmus paper back to blue. The soda should be added a few drops at a time and the mixture stirred with a glass rod. Mix the bath half an hour before needed for use. Place the prints in this bath, and tone till nearly the desired color. Rinse and place for five minutes in a fixing bath composed of an ounce of hyposulphite of soda and 8 ounces of water. Wash in running water for half an hour.—Harper's Round Table.

It is high time that the mothers and daughters of the Anglo-Saxon race should unite in a league in defense of marriage, banding themselves together in a solemn covenant to fight to the death the pernicious influences that are corrupting our literature and through our literature the minds and conduct of our generation. Regard for the order of society, regard for the children of the fireside, regard for the common weal above personal interest and the mere selfish gratification of the moment, call in clarion tones to all lovers of their kind to rally in defense of the abused and attacked institution of marriage.—Zion's Herald.

NAMES IN JERSEY.

SOME OF THE TOWNS THAT MAY BE FOUND IN EVERY ATLAS.

Picturesque Nomenclature That Is Original and Fresh From the Soil. A Native Jerseyman's Explanations of Some of the Appellations.

"Other states may be bigger and richer and turn in a heavier vote," said the man with the woodbine whiskers twining gently about his face, "but for picturesqueness of nomenclature New Jersey takes the gold medal."

"You're from Jersey, sir, I suppose," said the man who had just come in from the smoking car.

"I am, sir, and I'm proud of it. I come in on this train every day to business in the city, and in my leisure moments I make a study of the geography of my native state. I may say, sir—I think I may say with confidence—that few men are so well informed as I upon this interesting subject of New Jersey's geographical nomenclature. You observe, sir, that I say New Jersey, not Jersey, which is an undignified beheading of a noble title."

"Possibly it is because I'm a New Yorker," said the man across the aisle, "but I have always thought New York to be pretty strong on interesting names."

"A great error, sir," declared he of the whiskers. "A very great error. Your names are mainly corrupted Indian titles or direct cribs from ancient days—Ithaca, Marathon, Utica, Homer, Virgil, Syracuse, Sempronius, Moravia, Rome, Cato, Palmyra and a score of others. You have borrowed the glories that should have been buried with Greece and Rome. Our titles, sir, are dug up from the soil and replete with meaning. Let me cite some."

Here he pulled a small notebook from his pocket, and the other man, with regretful politeness, said he would be glad to learn something on the subject. "Consider, sir," continued the Jerseyite, "the appropriateness of such names as Ragtown, Breakfast Point, Camp Gaw, Polifly, Radix, Pluckemin, Pocktown, Tillietudelum and Succasuna."

"Some of them sound familiar," said the New Yorker, "but are all of those real names?"

"Every one of 'em on the map, sir," replied the other warmly. "I'll give you $100 for any one of those that isn't a real place, and they fairly reek of the soil. Now, here's another batch—Bone Hill, Wickatunk, Bamber, Atco, Wollyfield, Blue Anchor, Blazing Star, Hockamick, Jahokeville, Oney's Hat, Kalarama, Flyat, Flickerville, Zingsem, Wakeake and Batsto."

"They sound as if they were taken from Jabberwocky," remarked the New Yorker. "They're utter nonsense."

"Taken straight from the countryside," averred the geographer. "They may not be very strong on sense. Those names I cite merely as instances of pure beauty of sound. If you're looking for meaning, I can give that to you. For instance, there are Barley Sheaf and Wheat Sheaf, poetically suggestive of the agricultural riches of our beautiful state. Our domestic animals are commemorated in such fitting titles as Goosetown, Hensfoot, Hogtown, Monkeytown, Horseneck and Peacocktown, while for other animals there are Skunktown, Pole Tavern, which used to be Polecat Tavern; Postertown (if a poster ain't a wild animal I don't know what is), Snake Hill, Turtletown, Frogtown, and I don't know but what Batsto ought to come in there. The frogs get another show at Manunka Chunk, which is the name they gave it themselves, singing of nights out in the swamps."

"Now, for the temperance folk there are blazing signs of warning in such names as Whisky Lane, Gin Point, Jugtown and Bum Tavern. There used to be an innkeeper in the latter place, by the way, who sued the authorities once a year for maintaining such a title and always compromised for 5 cents, with which he bought himself a drink and was well satisfied. One year the authorities started in to fight the case and the innkeeper in disgust quit the business and Bum Tavern simultaneously. A place with a suggestive title is Naught-right, which got its name from a large farm owner's sign, nailed on a tree at the roadside, 'No right of way here.' They got calling him Old No Right, and when the village sprung up they called it after him, but a man who had spelling reform the wrong way made it as it now stands. Speaking of spelling, there's one village you can spell either Packnack, Paquanac, Pequanae or Pequanock, but you can't pronounce it as the natives do, no matter which way you choose."

"There are some names more suggestive than beautiful—Scrabbletown, Scrapetown, Slabtown, Samptown and Solitude, for instance. Some belie their names, like Reckless town, which is as peaceful as a graveyard and in the same general line of business, keeping its inhabitants buried far from the cares of this busy world. Then there's Roundabout, which is a plain four corners crossing, and Small Lots, with nothing but wide stretches of countryside. As for Pelletville, I've heard that there isn't a drug store there, but I can't swear as to that, not having been there for many years."

"Look here," put in the New Yorker. "I believe you're the man who writes the suburban stories in the comic papers and you're practicing names on me."

"You do me great injustice!" cried the geographer. "Every name has its local habitation, and you can find them all in the atlases. Next you'll be caviling at such well known places as Snufftown, Ringoes, Rustic, Absecon, Hackle Barney, Soho, Bachville, Rural Place, Sodom, Blue Ball, Allamuchy, Totowa, Buckshutem, Duty Neck, Warbass and Smith's Turn Out."

HER LOVE WAS LASTING.

Though She Could Not Win His Affection, He Will Get Her Money.

Miss Mary Metz is a spinster of St. Louis. Years ago she fell in love with George W. Matthews, the son of a neighbor. He had only friendly feelings for her, and she concealed her love until the young man in 1857 announced that he intended to join the regular army and be stationed in Utah on account of his health. Miss Metz did not like to see her lover go, and she appealed to his mother, frankly saying that love dictated her course. The young man persisted, however, and went to Utah.

When the civil war broke out, the young soldier had so much improved in health that he went to the front and fought for two years.

He was then seriously wounded and was returned to a hospital in St. Louis, where he was nursed for several months by his mother and Miss Metz. Her devotion and care, however, did not win his love, and in 1870 he went to Iowa, where he bought a hotel. He has lived in Iowa ever since and has married an estimable lady and raised a family of children.

A few months ago he received a letter from Miss Metz asking him to come to see her. He did not answer the letter and a few weeks later received another similar request. The letter contained the information that the writer was seriously ill.

Mr. Matthews replied to the second letter, saying that it would not be best for the two to meet again, that their association had resulted in sorrow for both of them and that it was best to let the past be past. In reply Miss Metz wrote that she had no intention of digging up old events, but that her property, which amounted to about $150,000, was being grossly mismanaged, that she was being swindled and that she wanted to turn the management of her estate over to Mr. Matthews, whom she felt that she could trust. She further said that she realized that her stay on earth would be short, as the malady from which she was suffering was incurable. She said that all she wanted was to be cared for as long as she lived, and that she desired to leave the balance of her property to Mr. Matthews.

In response to her earnest plea Mr. Matthews went to St. Louis to see his old sweetheart and resolved to comply with her wishes. As a reward for his regard for the woman who loved him for years he will receive a handsome legacy and will be able to leave all his children wealthy.—Exchange.

The Editor's Woes.

A New Jersey suburbanite tells this one:

There is an editor in our little town who just for the present wishes he were somewhere else. Desiring to compliment the schoolteachers of the place and extend the circulation of his newspaper among them, he wrote an elaborate article, which he headed, "Pension a Lot of Our Schoolteachers." He then continued in an eloquent strain to declare that "there are about a dozen of the best known teachers in our schools who, because of their long service in the harness, should be pensioned immediately." Of course the intelligent compositor got in his work, and as the old man failed to read his proof he was horrified to find his paper declaring that there were a lot of old schoolteachers in that town who ought to be "poisoned" immediately. The editor informs me, with tears in his eyes, that this is one of those unpleasant episodes which occur to an editor now and then.—Hard-ware.

The sounding of the mayor's horn at Ripon, England, is one of the most ancient customs in the kingdom. It formerly announced the setting of the watch, but it has now lapsed into the formality of three blasts given at 9 o'clock every evening at the mayor's residence by his official horn blower and three more at the market cross.

which she lately received an interview, is in a field and is nothing less than a stable from which the stalls had been cleared and a skylight inserted. It was swept and garnished not sumptuously by any means, but quite habitable, however, and was evidently a real workshop.

"The field is very handy, you see, for my models to roam about in. Besides I have them brought inside here, and they stand here quite contentedly, munching that truss of hay." Thus said the artist.

Miss Kemp-Welch's "Foam Horses" are well known. She has been invited to send a picture to the Boston exhibition. The artist is young, and very great things are expected of her.—New York World.

A New Paris Club.

A novel variety of the now universal "ladies' club" has just been started in Paris by a benefactress of her sex, who claims to be actuated solely by altruistic motives. Having a large and lonely drawing room at her house in the Rue Notre Dame des Champs, Mme. Gravelot, says a Paris exchange, conceived the idea of throwing it open to women living alone and exercising some liberal profession or pursuing a course of study. Here they might daily meet and pass their leisure hours in cheerful society instead of pining in solitary garrets or running about the streets. The proprietress has given to this refuge a high sounding title, "Le Cénacle des Femmes," but it does not appear that any save Barmecide repasts are supplied to the guests, each of whom pays a trifling monthly contribution toward lights, fires and other necessary expenses. So far workwomen are disqualified from regular membership, but they may come in response to invitations, and the same privilege is accorded to male friends on two evenings in the week.

The Age of Women.

The wish to conceal her age is so popularly supposed to be second nature to every woman that it has come to be accepted almost as one of her prerogatives. Even in the witness box legal inquiry and judgment are very lenient on this point. Over in Australia, however, it seems, it is a serious offense, and recently a marriage was declared void because the husband proved that his wife had deceived him as to her age, claiming to be 15 years younger than she really was. In this connection the celebration the other day of the ninety-ninth birthday of a still vigorous woman is worth mentioning as bringing together a company of the sex who strove each to be older, not younger, than the other, those who had touched the 90 mark announcing the fact with a pride that quite silenced the immature matrons of 78 and 85.—New York Ledger.

Muslin Holds Its Own.

With all the furore that exists for transparent stuffs of every variety muslins will hold their own in popularity. One of the prettiest afternoon dresses seen this season is of the time honored spotted variety. It is made over a maize colored foundation of silk glace, while circling interminably around the sleeve is cream lace. The muslin of the bodice and skirt has insertions of the lace, and the crush belt is of green glace silk. Taking it as a whole, nothing could be more charming or more becoming. No woman's wardrobe this season will be deemed complete without at least one of these pretty and inexpensive frocks.

EVENING NEWS REVIEW.

THIRTEENTH YEAR. NO. 128.

EAST LIVERPOOL, OHIO, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 5, 1897.

TWO CENTS

HERE IS THE CHANCE.

Twenty-five Cent Silver and Dollar Wheat. Senator John P. Jones Welcomes More Gold—Says Silver Will Continue to Fall, but Times Will Be Better.

Senator Stewart of Nevada is one of the latest converts to commercial optimism. He is a "bull" on everything except silver. He is engaged in a vigorous campaign in Wall street and said to the reporter of a New York paper the other day that he had heard so much about better times that he has determined to "gather in a part of the prosperity which is not only rampant in the street, but throughout the land."

When asked what had brought about a change in his views, he said:

"There is no room for pessimism in this country. No one can be a 'bear' in the face of the wheat famine in Argentina, Russia, Hungary and India. In view of this condition abroad, I should not be surprised to see silver sell as low as 25 cents and wheat as high as $1. There is nothing in talking silver at the present time, and my advice to my friends in the west is to fall into line with the forces of prosperity and progress and receive their due share of the reward."

"The time has passed for the old issues. We must turn to face new issues and new conditions."

"I frequently hear it said that this security market is a duplicate of the market in 1879. It is not. It is more of a 'bull' market. All a man has to do is to get into it—go to sleep and get rich. The wheat situation in the west will make every railway not only a dividend earner, but a dividend payer. Railroads that have been moribund for years are now taxed to their fullest capacity and are still unable to accommodate the traffic. I am told that there is imminent danger of a car famine on many of the most important lines traversing this country."

"Are the people in the west alive to this new situation?"

"The people in the west," he replied, "are wide awake. They know a good thing when they see it. Most of them are hanging on to their cereals with a confidence born of hope and an actual knowledge of what is going on around them. With their immense crops they will be able not only to liquidate their indebtedness to the money sharks of the east, but will inaugurate a buying movement that will surprise the people in this part of the country. I think that by the late fall the truth of what I said and reiterated during the campaign will be generally recognized, and that is that there can be no general prosperity in this country that is not born and sustained in the west."

Senator John P. Jones of Nevada, who is in New York, said that the continued fall in the price of silver ought not to surprise any one.

"Silver is falling in commercial price," he said, "because of the falling off of the demand for it as money. Japan has gone on a gold basis and so lessened the demand for silver. Besides this, there has been, because of universal hard times, a great falling off in purchases in the east. The oriental countries use silver money, and our purchases are paid for in that metal. This demand has been cut off by reason of the hard times."

"Would not the increase in gold production in Canada and Alaska naturally tend to raise the price of silver?"

"I think not. Even if it did the advance would be inappreciable, while the decrease due to the two causes I have mentioned would more than counterbalance any slight possible advance and continue to force silver lower and lower. However, there will be no general advance in prices. In 1849, when the mines of California and Australia trebled the world's supply of gold, the advance in general prices was only 15 percent in 15 years. That advance, small and gradual as it was, was a universal benefaction. The only thing that can advance the price of a money metal is the demand for the metal for its use as money. If gold were not used as money, the present stock would be sufficient for all the uses in the arts and in commerce for 50 years."

"You will infer," said Mr. Jones, "that I am not opposed to prosperity through an increase in gold. The Republicans are very lucky, and I congratulate them on the fact that their great discovery falls within their administration. I believe a great deal of gold will be found in Alaska, and it is certain to restore prosperity, for which the Republicans will claim and receive the credit. I shall welcome its return, whether through gold or silver. An abundance of money means prosperity, and I want to see good times in this country come as a result of good times elsewhere."

of the trusts. I cherish no enmity toward the combinations of capital. If two or three men want to combine for the purpose of bettering their business by lessening production, they have a right to do so. But the people hate trusts, and only prosperity will drive monopolies out of their minds."

"I have been taunted with being opposed to an 'honest' dollar. I believe in an honest dollar as strongly as any man, but I consider that only one dollar can be honest, and that is a dollar which demands no more and no less sacrifice to secure it at the maturity of a debt than it demanded when the debt was contracted. I want as good money as anybody."

Senator Jones said that the miners in Nevada are abandoning their silver mines and are prospecting for gold. Many of them, he said, are meeting with success, and it is probable that a good quantity of gold will soon be produced in that state.

Mental Maladies.

Within the memory of living men there were physicians who held the theory that mental disorders were in the majority of cases nothing more or less than viciousness, ugliness, or, to use their favorite expression, "pure devilishness." The logical sequence of this line of reasoning was that the infirmity was something to be eradicated by chastisement given in allopathic doses. More than one sufferer has been mercilessly whipped and many another has been chained and starved with the view to exorcise the evil spirit that was popularly supposed to be the cause of all the trouble. The starvation part of all the treatment might have given favorable results, as extreme reduction of the physical system often removes the clouds from the mental, but cruelty or brutality is the worst possible remedy for afflictions of this nature, simply aggravating and increasing them without the faintest hope of benefit. Disturbances of the psychic half of the human economy are even more numerous and important than those affecting the physical and material.

One of the misfortunes of patients who suffer from mental disorders is the lack of appreciation of the grave nature of their disease. Even eminent medical men, especially those who are themselves in the enjoyment of robust health, find it difficult to appreciate the more delicate phases of nervous distress. Merely a nervous attack means a great deal more than the average person is capable of understanding. The horrors that cluster around even the milder forms of insanity are such that the merest shadow of mental disturbance demands the most thorough and intelligent treatment. Ministering to a mind diseased is a phase of the physician's work that is too little understood and receives much less attention than its importance warrants.—New York Ledger.

The formulas for toning solutions are almost without number, but the toning process which gives the best results for aristo papers—the papers most commonly used—is the one in which the toning and fixing are done separately. A favorite bath is made as follows: Make a stock solution of 15 grains of chloride gold and sodium (price, 40 cents) and 7½ ounces water and a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda. A saturated solution is a liquid which contains a little more of the substance placed in it than it can dissolve and is shown by a deposit at the bottom of the bottle or vessel in which it is placed. Mark the bottle containing the gold "Gold Solution," and the bottle containing the soda "Bicarbonate of Soda Solution." To make the toning bath take one-half ounce of the gold solution and add 3½ ounces of water. Dip a piece of blue litmus paper into the solution, and if it does not turn the paper red add a little more of the gold. Then put in enough of the bicarbonate of soda solution to turn the litmus paper back to blue. The soda should be added a few drops at a time and the mixture stirred with a glass rod. Mix the bath half an hour before needed for use. Place the prints in this bath, and tone till nearly the desired color. Rinse and place for five minutes in a fixing bath composed of an ounce of hyposulphite of soda and 8 ounces of water. Wash in running water for half an hour.—Harper's Round Table.

The wish to conceal her age is so popularly supposed to be second nature to every woman that it has come to be accepted almost as one of her prerogatives. Even in the witness box legal inquiry and judgment are very lenient on this point. Over in Australia, however, it seems, it is a serious offense, and recently a marriage was declared void because the husband proved that his wife had deceived him as to her age, claiming to be 15 years younger than she really was. In this connection the celebration the other day of the ninety-ninth birthday of a still vigorous woman is worth mentioning as bringing together a company of the sex who strove each to be older, not younger, than the other, those who had touched the 90 mark announcing the fact with a pride that quite silenced the immature matrons of 78 and 85.—New York Ledger.

Muslin Holds Its Own.

With all the furore that exists for transparent stuffs of every variety muslins will hold their own in popularity. One of the prettiest afternoon dresses seen this season is of the time honored spotted variety. It is made over a maize colored foundation of silk glaze, while circling terminally around the sleeve is cream lace. The muslin of the bodice and skirt has insertions of the lace, and the crush belt is of green glaze silk. Taking it as a whole, nothing could be more charming or more becoming. No woman's wardrobe this season will be deemed complete without at least one of these pretty and inexpensive frocks.

PRICES WILL GO UP

As Soon as Importers' Stocks
Are Low.

TOO MUCH FOREIGN POTTERY

To Allow the Domestic Manufacturers to Make a Good Showing as Yet, but They Will Soon Have It All Their Own Way
According to an Authority.

According to a New York authority
we have not yet commenced to see good times. The correspondent of China, Glass and Lamps says:

"Prices continue to rule very low in the earthenware and glassware lines.
Now is an excellent time for retailers to make their purchases. Goods, while wonderfully cheap, are excellent in quality. In fact all the conditions of the market favor the small dealer at the present time, though it is not quite certain that these conditions will last. In anticipation of the passage of the Dingley bill, large quantities of crockery and glass were imported and have not yet been worked off. While these goods remain undisposed of prices will continue low, but as soon as existing stocks are sold we may look for an increase in prices. The matter is simply a question of arithmetic. Manufacturers' stocks are not in excess of public requirements.
Wherever the market is gutted it is due entirely to importations and not to native over-production. Just as soon as we are rid of surplus foreign stocks the market for home made goods must necessarily improve and manufacturing
prospects in Pittsburg, Trenton, East Liverpool, and the other crockery and glass centers will receive a wonderful impetus."

SANDOW THE SECOND

Will Be at the Grand Opera House Saturday Night.

"Sandow the Second" will be the attraction at the Grand Opera House tomorrow night, and those who witness the performance are assured of an evening of entertainment.

The young man is perhaps the most powerful human being in the country,
and for two weeks delighted vast audiences at the Duquesne theater in Pittsburg. His exhibition of fancy bag punching, it has often been said, is among the finest.

Manager Norris believes Sandow will attract a large audience to the theater,
for nothing of that sort has ever been seen in the city in spite of the great interest always shown in athletic exhibitions.

THE CITY PARK.

Commissioner Finley Has Almost Done
His Work.

Commissioner Finley yesterday completed the work of clearing the city's lots at Third and Market streets,
and will the first of next week plant maple trees where they will look the best. Wire fences have been placed about the ground, and they will not be taken away until spring. The order for seats has not yet been placed, and may not be until next year.

"I am more than pleased with the work," said President Peach, "and I cannot see why it should not be a benefit to the city."

Labeled the Trunk.

The friends of a newly married couple yesterday pasted a card on their trunk bearing these words:

"We are just married. Don't give it away."

As the groom did not see the trunk
before it was placed in the baggage car,
it likely surprised him when he claimed
it at the hotel in Cleveland.

Many Meetings.

There will be many meetings held this evening. The board of health will meet at city hall, the board of education hold a session in their rooms, the water works trustees will meet in the clerk's office and the hospital association will transact business at the Young Men's Christian association.

Another Sermon.

The Diamond preacher talked again
last evening, and he bids fair to outshine Holiness Ward. If both speakers decide to hold meetings the same evening, the spectators will be furnished with a great deal of amusement.

Repaired the Reservoir.

Superintendent Morley and his force were at work yesterday putting a strainer in the new reservoir. A portion of the reservoir was also relined.

See Sandow the Second at the Grand Opera House tomorrow night.

The Passing of the Horse.
The precious brood mare, worn and old,
Stood still beneath the trees.
All gray and lame and sad was she—
Her head between her knees.

"I see the harness flung away,
I hear the motor's roll.
Another age dawns clear as day
On my pathetic soul.

"Our race has nearly run its course,
And soon our beds we'll make
Beside the megasaurian tribe,
The great plicene snake,

"The mammoth and the mighty elk
And men will pay their fees
To see our bones in museums,
Great curiosities.

"To circuses the little boys
In wonder and in glee
Will flock to see the 'only colt
Born in captivity.'

"They'll pluck his pretty little tail
They'll gaze into his face.
The tender hearted will bewail
The last of all his race.

"We're passing to oblivion far.
We'll meekly meet our fate.
When men no more our comrades are,
Men shall degenerate.

"For they were brave when we were strong
Were fast when we were fleet,
Whether in cutting swaths in war
Or bravely cutting wheat.

Of time as days grow dark—
When man evolved the modern horse,
He touched high water mark."

No One Behaves Better Than Does Ira Marlatt.

ATTENDS TO HIS OWN AFFAIRS

He Shows No Signs of His Old Disposition, and Has Not Been Known to Do Anything Wrong For Months—Has No Desire to Leave.

COLUMBUS, Nov. 4.—[Special.]—Ira Marlatt, the Columbiana county murderer who created more commotion in the penitentiary than any other man confined within its walls, is now almost a trusty, so complete has been the change which began almost a year ago, and has been developing under the guiding care of Warden Coffin and the guards.

Marlatt, as everyone knows, was a fiend. Soon after his incarceration under a life sentence he began to annoy the guards, and within a few years he had become a demon. His temper, never the most pleasant, seemed to boil under the influences of restraint, and nothing was too devilish for him to plan and carry out. For days he would spend his time in sulking. Then the guards watched him, and it was well that they did. They learned that an attack upon some one was sure to follow any long period of sulks. At times Marlatt succeeded in carrying out his design, and it is now said that on many occasions he was wild and unruly when the public knew nothing of it, and that even his friends are not acquainted with the details of all his devilishness since he became a prisoner.

The weapons he made and the mystery surrounding their production is very well known, and to this day there is no one to swear that they know just where Marlatt got the wire, but there are people who believe they know. One guard is confident that the wire was stolen from the shops and passed to Marlatt by some of the most desperate characters in the penitentiary, who occasionally passed his cell. When he saw the opportunity to manufacture a weapon he seemed to lose all control of himself, and immediately the howling began. From that time until the weapon was sharpened he was a fiend, thinking only of the satisfaction he would derive from plunging the instrument into the breast of the first guard who came to command silence. Many of his escapades were reported through the newspapers, but now it is said that all the unlawful things Marlatt did during his madness would fill many times the space allotted to his freaks.

Now it is all changed. Instead of a demon Marlatt has become as quiet and well behaved as any prisoner in the institution. While it is true that he at times shows anything but an angelic disposition, he has never since his reformation manifested the spirit of devilry which seemed to have possession of him. When he is sulky it is only for a few minutes. Occasionally his brows knit and a flash goes from his eyes which seems to foretell a storm, but it has all passed away without an outbreak. He does not show a loveable spirit, but has the most profound respect for Warden Coffin and some other officials. He apparently wants to do what is right, and much prefers the sort of life he lives at present to the long, dull days passed in the iron cage. At times he is as cheerful as any, but laughs a laugh which is not altogether pleasant to hear. This, however, does not often happen. He prefers to do the duty demanded, and say little to anyone. Once the word pardon was mentioned in his hearing, but he did not even give it passing notice. It is not believed that he thinks of it now although before he became good, as the guards say, he repeatedly demanded his liberty.

The Ira Marlatt of today is not the man he was a year ago. It may be caused by fear, but those who know him best do not think so. They believe it is reformation, pure and simple, prompted by a desire to live with the least possible pain and exertion to himself.

A DISTINGUISHED VISITOR.

The Assistant Adjutant General Was In Town.

Maj. H. O. Heistend, assistant adjutant general of the army, was here yesterday, the guest of Col. J. N. Taylor. Major Heistend was accompanied by his wife, and they were on their way to Washington, after a brief visit with friends in Columbus.

Major Heistend has long been associated with President McKinley, and during the stirring days of the campaign spent the greater part of the time with him in Canton. After the inauguration the major was promoted and assigned to his present position.

He does not show a loveable spirit, but has the most profound respect for Warden Coffin and some other officials. He apparently wants to do what is right, and much prefers the sort of life he lives at present to the long, dull days passed in the iron cage. At times he is as cheerful as any, but laughs a laugh which is not altogether pleasant to hear. This, however, does not often happen. He prefers to do the duty demanded, and say little to anyone. Once the word pardon was mentioned in his hearing, but he did not even give it passing notice. It is not believed that he thinks of it now although before he became good, as the guards say, he repeatedly demanded his liberty.

The Ira Marlatt of today is not the man he was a year ago. It may be caused by fear, but those who know him best do not think so. They believe it is reformation, pure and simple, prompted by a desire to live with the least possible pain and exertion to himself.

A DISTINGUISHED VISITOR.

The Assistant Adjutant General Was In Town.

Maj. H. O. Heistend, assistant adjutant general of the army, was here yesterday, the guest of Col. J. N. Taylor. Major Heistend was accompanied by his wife, and they were on their way to Washington, after a brief visit with friends in Columbus.

Major Heistend has long been associated with President McKinley, and during the stirring days of the campaign spent the greater part of the time with him in Canton. After the inauguration the major was promoted and assigned to his present position.

LOCKED IN LISBON JAIL

Alex Stevenson Arrived Today
From the West.

HE LOST HIS MUSTACHE

And His Hair Is Much Darker Than When
He Was Here a Few Months Ago—Will Likely Be Released on Bail Very Soon.

LISBON, Nov. 5.—[Special.]—Sheriff
Charley Gill arrived here today from
Kansas City, having in charge Alex
Stevenson, the Liverpool attorney who
was last month indicted for forgery,
and was arrested in the west where he
was acting as coach for a football team.
Stevenson looks well. His face is
without the mustache he usually wore,
and his hair seems much darker than before he went west. He is confident that he will soon be released on bond.

OHIO VALLEY BUSINESS COLLEGE.
It Pays Pupils to Patronize the Very Best
Educational Institutions.

Every branch in the above superbly
conducted educational establishment is
taught in its fullness and completeness.
No half way work. No turning out upon
the business world pupils unfit to meet
the struggle of these hustling times. In a sentence, a graduate of the Ohio Valley Business college goes out in the business world thoroughly qualified and
fitted for business situations, reflecting
credit upon college and pupil alike.

Professor Cooper has employed two
new teachers for the Wellsville school.
The parent institution in East Liverpool is crowded as it has never been before.

Mr. J. E. Orin has completed the commercial course, and Professor Cooper secured him a desirable situation at once.
Graduates find no difficulty in securing
situations, as they must be thorough in
every branch taught before they are permitted to graduate.

Exceptional advantages are given in
the night school, while the prices are very reasonable, when the matter of
able instructors and thorough education
are taken into consideration. In the educational world, as in the business world, there are some features in which the so-called "cheap" article is
dear at any price. Beware of would-be educators, offering you educational advantages for a mere song. You will find that they are entirely too "cheap"
to be desirable. The Ohio Valley Business college always returns you "value
received."

VOIGHT A REPUBLICAN.

Says He Will Support One—Silent as
to Hanna.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 5.—Senator-Elect
Lewis Voight, one of the independent
Republicans elected in Hamilton
county, was asked how he stood on political matters. Mr. Voight replied:
"I am a Republican, a sound money
man and furthermore I am a supporter
of the present national administration."

"How will you vote on United States senator?"

"I shall vote for a Republican," replied Mr. Voight.

"Will you vote for Hanna?"

"That I will not say. Nor will I say for whom I shall vote."

"Will you attend the Republican caucus?"

"I will not."

"In the event Hanna is the choice of the Republican caucus for United States senator will you vote for him?"

"That I will not say."

"How do you stand on other political matters?"

"I am for the best interests of Hamilton county. For a long time I have been interested in opposing bossism and shall favor everything that is clean and that will give us good government. I am a Republican."

"I will repeat that I shall vote for a Republican for United States senator
but will not go farther than that until
the time comes to vote."

THE F. F. V. WRECKED.

Four Persons Killed and Seventeen Hurt
Prominent Men Uninjured.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., Nov. 5.—The Cheasapeake and Ohio vestibule express, known as the F. F. V., from Cincinnati to Washington, has been wrecked near Old Shadwell, five miles east of this place. Four persons were killed and 17
more or less injured, though none reported fatally hurt.

The dead are:
Henry Burnett, colored porter, Kes-wick, Va.

An Italian woman named Merara and infant believed to be from Cincinnati.
Phelix Mareno (died after removal to Charlottesville).

The cause of the wreck is unknown.

Among the uninjured passengers on the train were Senator Orville H. Platt, of Connecticut, Commissioner of Pensions H. Clay Evans and Representative
Walter Evans, of Louisville.

GATLING GUNS NEEDED.

General Miles Thinks the Sub-Treasuries
Should Be Fortified.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—General Nelson A. Miles was asked to give his reasons for recommending the fortification of the new federal building in Chicago with gatling guns. He said:
"There are nine places in this country
where the treasury chests of Uncle
Sam are located, and for the past 20
years I have urged the necessity of protecting these depositories with the
most approved pattern of firearms."

"When the subject of a new public
building at Chicago was broached one
of my first thoughts was for protective
measures in case there should be an attempt directed against the sub-treasury
holdings which will be put in the building."

Demonstration Against Autonomy.

KEY WEST, Nov. 5.—The Cuban population of Key West made a great demonstration against the acceptance of autonomy from Spain last night,
with a grand torchlight procession and addresses by prominent Cubans at San Carlos Opera House.

TWO CUBAN VICTORIES.

A Million Dollars Disappeared From the Treasury at Havana.

HAVANA, Nov. 5.—The rebels in the field are very active. On Oct. 30 the Spaniards sustained the most severe loss they have met for some time. On the borders of Matanzas province, General Moline was defeated by the insurgents under General Betancourt. The fight was a long one and the Spanish loss was tremendous. He was finally obliged to retreat.

A report, apparently well founded, is current in Havana to the effect the Holguin has been attacked and captured by the rebels under General Cebreco. That it has been attacked and 15 Spaniards killed is admitted,
but the capture is denied.

General Laque with heavy reinforcements has left Havana for Holguin.

A million dollars in paper currency has mysteriously disappeared from the treasury here. The money was intended for the payment of the navy and the troops.

Republicans Control the Legislature in Maryland.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 5.—An official count
of the ballots cast on Tuesday last made in most of the counties leaves no further room for doubt that the Republicans have control of both branches of the legislature and that a Republican will succeed Arthur P. Gorman in the United States senate.

Among those most prominently mentioned as the probable successor to Senator Gorman are Alexander Shaw, former Congressman John V. L. Findley, Postmaster General Gary and Congressman Sidney E. Mudd.

LOCKED IN LISBON JAIL

Alex Stevenson Arrived Today
From the West.

HE LOST HIS MUSTACHE

And His Hair Is Much Darker Than When
He Was Here a Few Months Ago—Will Likely Be Released on Bail Very Soon.

Charley Gill arrived here today from
Kansas City, having in charge Alex
Stevenson, the Liverpool attorney who
was last month indicted for forgery,
and was arrested in the west where he
was acting as coach for a football team.
Stevenson looks well. His face is
without the mustache he usually wore,
and his hair seems much darker than
before he went west. He is confident
that he will soon be released on bond.

OHIO VALLEY BUSINESS COLLEGE.
It Pays Pupils to Patronize the Very Best
Educational Institutions.

Every branch in the above superbly
conducted educational establishment is
taught in its fullness and completeness.
No half way work. No turning out upon
the business world pupils unfit to meet
the struggle of these hustling times. In
a sentence, a graduate of the Ohio Valley Business college goes out in the business world thoroughly qualified and
fitted for business situations, reflecting
credit upon college and pupil alike.

Professor Cooper has employed two
new teachers for the Wellsville school.

The parent institution in East Liver-
pool is crowded as it has never been before.

Mr. J. E. Orin has completed the commercial course, and Professor Cooper secured him a desirable situation at once.
(Graduates find no difficulty in securing
situations, as they must be thorough in
every branch taught before they are permitted to graduate.)

Exceptional advantages are given in
the night school, while the prices are
very reasonable, when the matter of
able instructors and thorough education
are taken into consideration. In the educational world, as in the business world, there are some features in
which the so-called "cheap" article is
dear at any price. Beware of would-be
educators, offering you educational advantages for a mere song. You will find that they are entirely too "cheap"
to be desirable. The Ohio Valley Business college always returns you "value
received."

Says He Will Support One—Silent as

CINCINNATI, Nov. 5.—Senator-Elect
Lewis Voight, one of the independent
Republicans elected in Hamilton
county, was asked how he stood on
political matters. Mr. Voight replied:
"I am a Republican, a sound money
man and furthermore I am a supporter
of the present national administration."

"How will you vote on United States

"I shall vote for a Republican," replied Mr. Voight.

"I will repeat that I shall vote for a Republican for United States senator
but will not go farther than that until
the time comes to vote."

GATLING GUNS NEEDED.

General Miles Thinks the Sub-Treasuries
Should Be Fortified.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—General Nelson A. Miles was asked to give his
reasons for recommending the fortifica-
tion of the new federal building in Chicago with gatling guns. He said:
"There are nine places in this country
where the treasury chests of Uncle
Sam are located, and for the past 20
years I have urged the necessity of
protecting these depositories with the
most approved pattern of firearms."

"When the subject of a new public
building at Chicago was broached one
of my first thoughts was for protective
measures in case there should be an attempt directed against the sub-treasury
holdings which will be put in the
building."

SUIT AGAINST DEACON

East End Pottery Company
After Damages.

ATTACHED HIS BANK STOCK

And the College Street Property—Payment Is Asked For the Actual Loss Incurred and For the Time the Plant Was Shut Down Because of the Cobalt.

LISBON, Nov. 5.—[Special]—At noon
today an action was filed with Clerk McNutt, by the East End Pottery company, of East Liverpool, asking judgment against Joseph Deacon for $3,- 500.

The petition alleges several causes of action. According to the first cause, on Sept. 5, Deacon wickedly adulterated a mixture which was used in preparing the body of the white ware manufactured by the company by the use of cobalt. The cobalt, the petition alleges, was secretly deposited in the mixture by Deacon, who succeeded in ruining the entire lot and compelling the shutdown of the plant for seven days. The damage asked for this is $525.

Another charge says that Sept. 26 and
Oct. 25 he ruined 20 tons of pulverized flint by mixing with it a quantity of calcined cobalt, salt and soap. The flint was rendered unfit for use, and as a result the factory was partly closed down for 25 days. For this they ask $950.

In addition to the damage to the mixture, judgment is asked for the care and trouble caused the plaintiff in avoiding the disastrous consequences of using any of the adulterated ingredients; for the extra help they were compelled to employ in apprehending the defendant,
and for the time lost when the plant
was shut down.

Deputy Supplee was in Liverpool last night and served an attachment on a lot owned by Deacon fronting on College street, and on $3,500 stock in the Potters' National bank.

still, and a lot of new faces, new songs,
etc. Besides the largest dramatic company now traveling (31 people) in repertoire, she carries the same famous prize medal orchestra, with its chimes, its electricians, its fireworks, its imitations of man, bird and beast, and its splendid choruses, for these musicians sing as well as play. The brass band will give its usual free concert outside previous to each entertainment, and a quartette of colored performers, the "Four-in-hand," will do buck dancing, winging and break downs, beside banjo and guitar solos and part singing at every performance. Entirely different program every night; not a single play, song, dance or orchestral music done at one will be repeated at any other. The usual sale of seats commenced today at Reed's drug store.

Your Money Back
If You Want It

Couldn't Fool the Old Man.

Things had progressed to a point where the young man had been practically received into the family circle.
While he hadn't yet mustered up sufficient courage to ask the old man's consent it was evident that he would in time.

Thus it happened that the old man,
who liked nothing better than a good game of whist or euchre or hearts, invited him to have a little game one evening, and of course he didn't feel that it would be policy to refuse.

"You and mother," said the old man,
referring to his wife, "can play against Martha and me. That will be fair. If you and Martha sat opposite each other,
you would probably persist in looking into each other's eyes, to the great detriment of the game."

Naturally the young woman and the young man blushed, but they said nothing, and the game began.

It wasn't much of a game. While the young woman wasn't sitting opposite the young man she was sitting next to him, and every few minutes one or the other of them forgot to play when it was his or her turn. Then, too, there were frequent inquiries as to who took the last trick and what was trumps,
and altogether the old man felt a good deal like swearing on one or two occasions.

Finally he made up his mind that patience had ceased to be a virtue. The game had come to a standstill while the young people exchanged confidences in a whisper. It was noticeable also that each one had one hand under the table.

"Young man," said the old man
sharply, "I should infer from the way
you are playing that you haven't much of a hand."

"On the contrary, sir," protested the young man, "I think I have as good a hand as I ever held."

"Well, suppose you drop it for a few minutes and try to play the cards that are on the table," suggested the old gentleman gravely.

He did. His missing hand appeared above the table almost instantly, and so did hers, and they both blushed.—Chicago Post.

Is Cheese Digestible?

Dr. Kleuze has recently answered this question by a most uncompromising negative. Various kinds of cheeses were artificially digested with gastric juice,
and, under the most favorable circumstances, they took very nearly twice as long as the ordinary foods contained in a mixed dietary.

The reason for this is probably the fact that, although cheese for the most part consists of casein—a highly digestible substance—it is so intimately mixed with various kinds of fats which are not acted upon by gastric juice that the gastric juice is separated, as it were,
from the digestible casein by an indigestible envelope of fat.

Therefore if large pieces of cheese
are swallowed they can neither be digested by the stomach nor are they passed on to the testinal juices, but they remain in the stomach and irritate
it to such an extent that the symptoms of indigestion supervene.

Our advice is, therefore, not to exclude cheese from the household dietary, but rather to be careful to eat it in small pieces and masticate it carefully
in the month, mixing it as thoroughly as possible with bread or some other food substance, as mastication of cheese
by itself is very difficult owing to its tenacious consistence.—Pearson's Weekly.

SUIT AGAINST DEACON

East End Pottery Company
After Damages.

ATTACHED HIS BANK STOCK

And the College Street Property—Payment Is Asked For the Actual Loss Incurred and For the Time the Plant Was Shut Down Because of the Cobalt.

LISBON, Nov. 5.—[Special]—At noon today an action was filed with Clerk McNutt, by the East End Pottery company, of East Liverpool, asking judgment against Joseph Deacon for $3,500.

The petition alleges several causes of action. According to the first cause, on Sept. 5, Deacon wickedly adulterated a mixture which was used in preparing the body of the white ware manufactured by the company by the use of cobalt. The cobalt, the petition alleges, was secretly deposited in the mixture by Deacon, who succeeded in ruining the entire lot and compelling the shutdown of the plant for seven days. The damage asked for this is $525.

Another charge says that Sept. 26 and Oct. 25 he ruined 20 tons of pulverized flint by mixing with it a quantity of calcined cobalt, salt and soap. The flint was rendered unfit for use, and as a result the factory was partly closed down for 25 days. For this they ask $950.

In addition to the damage to the mixture, judgment is asked for the care and trouble caused the plaintiff in avoiding the disastrous consequences of using any of the adulterated ingredients; for the extra help they were compelled to employ in apprehending the defendant, and for the time lost when the plant was shut down.

Deputy Supplee was in Liverpool last night and served an attachment on a lot owned by Deacon fronting on College street, and on $3,500 stock in the Potters' National bank.

Couldn't Fool the Old Man.

Things had progressed to a point where the young man had been practically received into the family circle. While he hadn't yet mustered up sufficient courage to ask the old man's consent it was evident that he would in time.

Thus it happened that the old man, who liked nothing better than a good game of whist or euchre or hearts, invited him to have a little game one evening, and of course he didn't feel that it would be policy to refuse.

"You and mother," said the old man, referring to his wife, "can play against Martha and me. That will be fair. If you and Martha sat opposite each other, you would probably persist in looking into each other's eyes, to the great detriment of the game."

Naturally the young woman and the young man blushed, but they said nothing, and the game began.

It wasn't much of a game. While the young woman wasn't sitting opposite the young man she was sitting next to him, and every few minutes one or the other of them forgot to play when it was his or her turn. Then, too, there were frequent inquiries as to who took the last trick and what was trumps, and altogether the old man felt a good deal like swearing on one or two occasions.

Finally he made up his mind that patience had ceased to be a virtue. The game had come to a standstill while the young people exchanged confidences in a whisper. It was noticeable also that each one had one hand under the table.

"Young man," said the old man sharply, "I should infer from the way you are playing that you haven't much of a hand."

"On the contrary, sir," protested the young man, "I think I have as good a hand as I ever held."

"Well, suppose you drop it for a few minutes and try to play the cards that are on the table," suggested the old gentleman gravely.

He did. His missing hand appeared above the table almost instantly, and so did hers, and they both blushed.—Chicago Post.

Is Cheese Digestible?

Dr. Kleuze has recently answered this question by a most uncompromising negative. Various kinds of cheeses were artificially digested with gastric juice, and, under the most favorable circumstances, they took very nearly twice as long as the ordinary foods contained in a mixed dietary.

The reason for this is probably the fact that, although cheese for the most part consists of casein—a highly digestible substance—it is so intimately mixed with various kinds of fats which are not acted upon by gastric juice that the gastric juice is separated, as it were, from the digestible casein by an indigestible envelope of fat.

Therefore if large pieces of cheese are swallowed they can neither be digested by the stomach nor are they passed on to the testinal juices, but they remain in the stomach and irritate it to such an extent that the symptoms of indigestion supervene.

Our advice is, therefore, not to exclude cheese from the household dietary, but rather to be careful to eat it in small pieces and masticate it carefully in the mouth, mixing it as thoroughly as possible with bread or some other food substance, as mastication of cheese by itself is very difficult owing to its tenacious consistence.—Pearson's Weekly.

THE BOY WAS WHIPPED

Not Once, but Too Often to Please the Trustees.

THE FATHER KNEW ABOUT IT

But He Claims He Was Unable to Prevent the Action of the Stepmother. The Humane Society Will Find Him a New Home.

A case of extreme cruelty on the part of a stepmother to a 12-year-old boy was last evening reported to Trustee Beardmore.

The parties live on Broadway, and the stepmother has been in the habit of whipping her stepson on numerous occasions, and for sometime not a day has passed that he has not been whipped until large welts were left on his back.

This morning Humane Agent Lloyd and Trustee Beardmore started out for the express purpose of seeing that any cruelty to the child was discontinued. The woman was notified that she would have to end the practice, or she would be prosecuted. They then went to see the father of the boy who said he knew his son was not receiving the proper treatment, but claimed he was unable to stop it. He also expressed himself as willing to allow his son to be placed in a good home, and the trustees will endeavor to find some person who is willing to adopt him. In the meantime the Humane society will see that the boy is not whipped.
